Uh, it has it's different endings and I find it weird and full of mystery, but it's a game that you pour your heart and soul into trying to unlock the true meaning. There is probably multiple endings and im surprised. Are you trying to make us think through the door?. Radium is one of those games you need to try by yourself to understand how much fun they are.

I know, 3,99$ might seem a lot for this, but this game is worth it. In case taht you don\u00b4t believe me: Go ahead and play the free mobile version... Anyways, you\u00b4ll miss something if you don\u00b4t give Radium a try.

Please don\u00b4t ask me why exactly, but this one has a special effect on me. There hasn\u00b4t been a game like this so far, I have been trying which such an ambition as Radium. It\u00b4s hard to explain what makes this game so special, but it\u00b4s pretty unique and that\u00b4s what I like about it.. TL;DR: Buggy but still playable. Randomly generated plants are fun to look at, especially the trees. Graphics are beautiful. Audio's kinda bad -- repetitive soundtrack, very few sound effects, but it doesn't take away from the enjoyment. Overall it's a pleasant experience that you can only get here.

Getting more in-depth, there're a couple things to know if you want to enjoy this game.

First, there's a trash-bin to your left. Use that to get rid of the pot currently on your desk, or throw away seeds that you don't particularly like. Note that doing that second thing makes the seed count glitch out, and you'll end up opening a brand new seed packet to find anywhere from one to four seeds inside. It's still kinda worth it, because otherwise your seed drawer fills up with junk.

Second, you can't edit or delete entries in your seed journal (from what I can tell), so only record ones you actually care about, and make sure it's accurate before you send it in. Also, you might encounter a glitch where you enter the seed journal to find an entry already open, right-click out of it, and discover your cursor is stuck in the middle of the screen. Just back out, go back in, close the entry, and this time it'll work. Having to do that every time does get old, though...

Third, you can rotate the circular thingy on your desk if you want to get a better look at your current plant, and you can put multiple plants in certain pots. Using planters to try out your five newest seeds at once is recommended.

Lastly, there's a bug where, if you try to grab a new pot when one is already on your desk, you'll get stuck halfway between the pot shelf and your desk, and you'll have to exit to the menu and start the day over. That one kinda sucks, so watch out.

The rest of the issues are kinda minor. A few typos, a noticeable lack of sound effects, disappointing randomly generated plants, an overabundance of sameface succulents, the depressing sense that the main character has no friends and never ventures outside... but it's really more good than bad. You get to settle into a comfortable routine of discovering new plants, filing them away in your notebook, fulfilling requests, and acquiring new pots. You get to experience the frustration of just starting out, the pang of rejection, and the satisfaction of a job well done. Eventually, you're putting together genuinely beautiful arrangements using your best finds and your shiniest pots, and that feels pretty good. And the trees actually look amazing; they're my favorite part of the game.

So if that sounds like a good time to you, and you don't mind the price, I very much recommend this game.. Royal Defense on the Water - much wow, sw4g

8/10. Every *Zeal game gets better and better with each sequel. 3 credit play still, still a little annoying, but at least there is an easy setting for us casual shmup fans. Most definitely bullet hell and does a pretty good job with it too. Looks and plays great on my ultrawide, scaling is perfect, huge plus in my books. This one may only be 720P, but it does a really nice job of it. The graphics and game style reminds me so much of Raystorm for the PS1 or Raiden III, for myself, thats nice trip down memory lane. Very interesting concept of being able to choose your shot style, lasers, wide bullets or guided missiles, with just a press of a button. But like all shmups like this one, you still have to pick up powerups to level up your shot. Its not ground breaking, but its got good value if you love shmups, well worth the asking price.
